CREATIVE ART CLASS FOR CHILDREN STARTS MARCH 2 IN AUDITORIUM

Children's creative art talents no longer have to be wasted on the living room walls, the front side walks, or the back fence. For the first time in Torrance a Children's Art series, sponsored by the Recreation department and the Torrance Art group, will be conducted at the Civic auditorium on eight consecutive Saturdays starting March 2.

Moni Gillett will teach the creative art classes designed for boys and girls between the ages of 6 and 9 and 10 and 14. The noted South Bay artist is a native of Australia and received her Bachelor of Arts degree from the University of Tasmania there.

She received her master of fine arts from Columbia University and is a retired teacher in New York State where she taught in Westchester and Long Island public schools. She also holds a Bach fellowship in art research at Maitland, Florida. For the past 30 years she has lived in the United States and teaches private art classes at her home, 605 Valley dr., Manhattan Beach.

Drawing with crayon, water colors, and charcoal will be emphasized, according to Vicki Felton, 815 Fonthill ave., chairman of the Torrance Art group, both classes are filled and there is a waiting list. Each class is limited to 20 members.

On March 1 at the Pool Shelter House, 3331 Torrance blvd., Moni Gillett will give an informal talk on her teaching methods and what she plans to include in the series. All parents are invited, 8:30 p.m.
